2024 – 2025

Ayer's Cliff Elementary School

Updated: _____August, 2024_____

INTRODUCTION

A committee of teachers proposed standards and procedures for the evaluation of learning at ACES and was approved by the school principal. They aim to define concrete actions to ensure that evaluation practices are consistent with the vision of assessment adopted in the Québec Education Program. The discussions surrounding the development of these standards and procedures also led to harmonizing evaluation practices to ensure consistency throughout the school.

FIELD OF APPLICATION

The standards and procedures in this document apply to K4/K5 and elementary grade levels. They cover each of the stages in the evaluation process, namely:

1. Planning of evaluation
2. Information gathering and interpretation

Promotion Policy

As per the ETSB Policy on Student Promotion:

At NHES, students are PROMOTED (MOVE ON) to the next grade/cycle when the following criteria are met:

- Achieves a minimum of 60% in at least two core subjects (Math, ELA, or FSL) on the final report card

If promotion criteria are not met, the Principal may decide that as the best course of action, a student be PLACED in the next grade/cycle in favour of their social and psychological wellbeing, or a student may be RETAINED at the same level for an additional year.

1. Planning of Evaluation

| | Standards | | Procedures | Legal Ref. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1.1 | Planning evaluation shall be consistent with the Québec Education Program (QEP). | 1.1.1 | The planning of evaluation by the grade level/subject team takes into account the evaluation of knowledge, subject-specific and general competencies, the Progression of Learning and the Framework for the Evaluation of Learning as well as other ETSB projects/initiative requirements. | |
| 1.2 | The planning of evaluation is a responsibility shared by the principal, grade level or subject-specific team and the individual teacher | 1.2.11.2.21.2.3 | The grade-level/subject team prepares an overall evaluation plan. The plan includes among other things, the main subject competencies targeted for a given term, the types of evaluation activities to be carried out and when they will take place. Subject consultants from the ETSB may lend support or guidance during the planning process.The members of the grade-level/subject team meet at least once a month to follow up on the evaluation planning September 23, October 21, November 25, December 9, January 20, February 17, March 11, April 21, May 26, June 9Using the subject team's overall plan, the individual teacher prepares his/her own evaluation plan. | 12 |
| 1.3 | The planning for evaluation takes into account students with special needs on IEPs (Individual Education Plans), as well as gifted students, to progress in their learning. | 1.3.11.3.2 | In order to take into account the specific situation of students with IEPs, the teacher - in collaboration with other school members and/or professional involved – indicates in his or her evaluation plan any adaptations or modifications required (see definitions below)At least once a month, information will be provided to the parents of a minor with an IEP. This information will be communicated by the following teachers:For Cycle 1: Angela Markwell, Marie-Katryn D.-MartelFor Cycle 2: Aly Dougherty, Philip HollidayFor Cycle 3: Brigitte Drew & Kim Gaudette | 3 |

Adaptations in evaluation (or support measures) involve making adjustments or changes to learning and evaluation situations without modifying what is evaluated. It can lead to a change in the way students with specific needs experience these situations or can affect the procedure to be followed or how texts are presented visually (ex. Using a more spacious layout). Adaptations give students access to the adjustments or accommodations they are used to enjoying without changing the content of evaluation situations, evaluation criteria, or requirements. Adaptations do not involve reducing the requirements or modifying what is evaluated. For example, in the context of a geography evaluation, allowing a student with specific needs to listen to, rather than read, the introductory text or instructions would be considered an adaptation.

Modifications in evaluation involve changes to learning and evaluation situations that actually modify competency evaluation criteria and requirements for students with specific needs. The level of difficulty of the evaluation situation is modified accordingly. For example, reducing the number of tasks to be performed would be a modification. Another example would be assigning a student with specific needs an easier task or a situation that is different from that assigned to the group as a whole. In the case of ministerial examinations aimed at the certification of studies, such modifications cannot be made for a student.

2. Information gathering and interpretation

| | Standards | | Procedures | Legal Ref. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2.1 | The responsibility for gathering and interpreting information is shared by the teacher, the student, and, occasionally, by other professionals. | 2.1.1 | The teacher gathers and records information that is varied, relevant, sufficient, and spread over a period of time. | |
| | | 2.1.2 | The teacher chooses or produces appropriate tools for gathering information (logbook, learning and evaluation file, etc.) or for interpreting it (rubrics, checklists, etc.) | |
| | | 2.1.3 | During the learning process, the student is involved with information gathering through self-evaluation, co-evaluation, and peer evaluation activities. | |
| | | 2.1.4 | In the case of students with special needs, the resource teacher and/or ETSB Complementary Services Professionals may assist the classroom teacher in the gathering of information and its interpretation. | |
| 2.2 | Information is gathered during the learning process and at the end of the year. | 2.2.1 | The teacher gathers and records information on the student's learning during regular classroom activities. | |
| | | 2.2.2 | Teachers discuss and share their information-gathering practices with colleagues (anecdotal notes, projects/assignments, interviews, exams/quizzes, observations, checklists, journal entries, etc.) | |
| 2.3 | The interpretation of information is based on the evaluation criteria in the Framework for the Evaluation of Learning. | 2.3.1 | The teacher uses evaluation tools (e.g., rubrics, self-evaluation forms, etc.) based on the evaluation criteria in the Framework for the Evaluation of Learning. | |
| | | 2.3.2 | Teachers of a given subject adopt a common interpretation of the requirements stemming from the Framework for the Evaluation of Learning, in particular by identifying observable indicators. | |
| | | 2.3.3 | In the case of a student on a modified program, the teacher records in the IEP (Individual Education Plan) how the student will be evaluated. | |

3. Judgment

| | Standards | | Procedures | Legal Ref. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 3.1 | The teacher is responsible for making a judgment based on relevant, varied, and sufficient information that reflects student learning. | 3.1.13.1.23.1.3 | The teacher makes a judgment based on the information gathered and interpreted through the use of formal tools.A school administration may consult with the teacher regarding a student mark. Following this, the teacher is responsible for making agreed-upon changes.The grade-level/subject team comes to a common understanding of what is considered relevant, varied, and sufficient information about a student's learning to make a judgment during and at the end of the school year. | |
| 3.2 | For Terms 1 and 2, the teacher makes a judgment that reflects the knowledge and competencies that a student has acquired - based on the evaluations carried out. | 3.2.1 | The teacher uses the Progression of Learning and the Framework for the Evaluation of Learning to make a judgment on student progress. | 4 |
| 3.3 | For Term 3, the teacher makes a judgment based primarily on the evaluations of learning carried out since the end of Term 2. It may also include, where applicable, the evaluations carried out at the end of the school year that cover the entire year's work for that subject. | 3.3.13.3.2 | The teacher uses the Framework for the Evaluation of Learning to make a judgment on the attainment of knowledge and competencies.In the case of compulsory evaluations produced by MEQ or the school board, teachers will use the accompanying evaluation guides. | 4 |

4. Decision/Action

| | Standards | | Procedures | Legal Ref. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 4.1 | During the school year, varied pedagogical practices are taken to support and enhance student learning. | 4.1.1 | The teacher determines the type and level of support and approaches necessary to meet the specific needs of his or her students. This may involve the help of the resource teacher and/or ETSB Complementary Services Professionals. | |
| 4.2 | At the end of each year, decisions are made and actions planned to ensure that the student makes a smooth transition to the next school year. | 4.2.14.2.2 | The principal and grade-level teachers set times for discussion and determine the information to be given in order to ensure student learning is followed from one year to the next.The teacher and resource team provide a detailed account of the learning of a student with special needs and determine the support measures needed for the following year. | |
