

Hooked on School Days From February 15 to 19, 2010

Sherbrooke Elementary School is proud to join the efforts of the region by participating in the Hooked on School Days. This event is taking place from February 15 to February 19, 2010. These days represent a specific time of the year to reinforce the mobilization around school perseverance. The Hooked on School Days are an opportunity to create bonds that will support the success of our young people.

We invite our youth, parents, teachers, professionals, support staff, partners, media, municipalities and local leaders to be concerned about the success of our young people. Since staying in school is everyone's business, we invite all partners from the various communities to join in during the Hooked on School Days.

We believe that this event is a great opportunity to tell our youth that we are supporting them in their efforts; our school will be organizing the following activities:

Open House on February 18th, from 12:45 – 2:15 p.m. We invite our family, friends & neighbours of our school community to visit our classrooms for presentations and exchanges with our students. Students will share their voice with you through specific theme projects they have explored. These themes will give our students an opportunity to communicate with us their goals & ambitions as well as their views on what engages them in school and motivates them to persevere.

From the Roots of Success - The Commitment Tree: The adults from our school community will be encouraged to complete a "leaf" to be attached to a tree displayed in our school's main entry. This leaf will show the individual's commitment in supporting our children through successful school graduation. This tree will serve as a visual reminder to students that they are not alone in the learning process.

Please join us in celebrating our students and their journey in education!
Together we shall persevere.
They will succeed.
